SPECIAL CALL FOR “IGNITE” PROPOSALS

The IUPUI Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) is accepting Ignite session proposals for the 2014 Edward C. Moore Symposium on Excellence in Teaching.

Ignite events are sweeping the nation. They are five minute presentations that are intended to inspire and “ignite” the audience with innovative and forward-thinking ideas. Think of them as an abbreviated TED Talk. (Example of an Ignite talk from the founder of Ignite: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yGENcskRGRk>)

This year at E.C. Moore, we invite you to share exciting, progressive ideas about teaching and learning through an Ignite Presentation. The Ignite session will target new, innovative, and up-and-coming ideas in Excellence in Teaching.

Do you have an answer to one of these questions? Then this session is for you!

- What will make teaching innovative?
- What is the next big transformational idea in education?
- What does the future of learning look/feel/sound like?
- If you could inspire a new wave of teaching philosophy, what principles or values would it include?
- What inspires you toward excellence in teaching?

Ignite sessions give presenters five minutes to speak about their idea, accompanied by exactly 20 slides. Each slide displays for 15 seconds and then automatically advances. The IUPUI Center for Teaching and Learning will provide support for the execution of the PowerPoint timing.

We strongly encourage individuals from the entire IU community to participate in submitting proposals.

IGNITE US!

In preparation for your proposal, please survey the literature to compare your idea to what has already been published. Your presentation should not be a report on the literature; rather the essence of your talk should be a novel idea that pushes the audience to think.

Proposals will be accepted until 5:00pm (EST) Friday, November 22, 2013. Applicants will be notified in January 2014 of their proposal's status. If you have questions, please email thectl@iupui.edu or call 317-274-1300.
